16. Audio-Visual Productions

16.1 Policy. The policy of the Service is to provide refuge access and/or assistance to legitimate producers of audio and/or visual recordings. Such assistance or access will not be provided if production operations are incompatible with refuge or Service objectives. Priority consideration is extended to producers of wildlife and natural resource related audio or visual materials. Producer's credentials will be verified by the appropriate Public Affairs Officer.

16.2 Objectives. Audio-visual (A-V) coverage of Service facilities can increase public understanding of America's wildlife and of the Service's role in managing and protecting natural resources. Program objectives are:

A. To promote public understanding of America's wildlife and the Service's role in managing and protecting these resources through the National Wildlife Refuge System.

B. To make refuge resources available to wildlife oriented users.

C. To minimize conflict between audio-visual production, other public use activities, and wildlife.

D. To standardize and coordinate responses to requests to film or record at NWRS facilities.

E. To place on-site supervision of audio-visual productions with the refuge manager, to the extent possible.

16.3 Authorities. Regulations concerning filming and recording activities are established in 43 CFR, Subtitle A, Section 5.1. Regulations regarding employee conduct and use of government facilities and equipment are established in 43 CFR 20.735-12 and 43 CFR 20.735-16. Regulations regarding disturbing violations (light and sound equipment), are established in 50 CFR Subpart G.

16.4 Definitions. The following terms and their definitions will aid personnel in interpreting this directive on audio-visual productions.

A. Film. Film is defined as still photographs, motion pictures, and videotapes.

B. Recording. Recording is the audio component in motion picture and video production, and audio-tape recording.

C. Casual photography. Casual photography is any type of visual recording performed by amateur owner/operators of photographic equipment. Casual photography is generally exempt from permit requirements. For example, visitors taking photographs for their personal use.
16. Audio-Visual Productions

D. News photography. News photography includes audio-visual productions for news and public affairs, stills, motion pictures, video, records and audio tapes, such as produced for television, newspapers, magazines, etc. Examples of news events are emergencies, such as a plane crash or fire, a commemorative event, or appearance by a public figure, or an erupting volcano or other unusual, non-recurring natural phenomenon.

E. Commercial photography. Visual recording by firms or individuals (other than news media representatives) who intend to distribute their photographic product. Creation of educational entertainment or commercial enterprise would be included in this category, as would advertising audio-visuals for the purpose of paid product or services publicity. All advertising photography requires an A-V Productions Permit. Advertisements must not imply endorsement by the Service.

16.5 Responsibilities.

B. Regional office. The regional director is responsible for approval of permit applications for commercial audio-visual productions, approval of bond and general liability insurance costs (See Section 8, below.), providing audio-visual guidance when requested by the refuge manager, and reviews requests to film endangered species which are forwarded to the Washington Office.

C. Refuge manager. The refuge manager issues Special Use Permits for commercial photography activities (after receiving regional approval), forwards requests to film or record endangered species through the regional office, advises producers of commercial audio-visual productions concerning permit applications and refuge rules (See Exhibits 1 and 2), and in the case of news-gathering media, provides assistance necessary for the media to accomplish its goal in a manner which minimizes the disruption of Service and refuge operations.

16.6 Issuance of permits. Regardless of the permit requirement, as outlined in 16.4 and 16.5 above, all audio-visual productions must be conducted pursuant to applicable rules and regulations governing activities and conduct at Service facilities. Refuge managers may issue Special Use Permits as needed, for news photographers, casual photographers, Service personnel, and State cooperators. These permits may be used to authorize permittees access to areas normally closed to the public, to clarify the parameters of authorization, etc. While a permit is required for documentaries, travelogues, feature stories, etc., that do not involve news events, permit is not required for photography (individuals using handheld equipment, tripods, flash bulbs and/or strobe lights) which does not involve the use of products, and which does not require refuge staff assistance or supervision. Permits are not required for models, sets, props, lights, or similar equipment which will not result in damage to the resource or which will not unduly conflict with normal visitor use.

16.7 Guidance for audio-visual production permits.

A. Bond requirements. A bond or cash deposit is required when an audio-visual permit is issued. The purpose of the bond is to assure that the area is left in its original condition. A performance bond issued by a bonding company, a cash deposit or certified check may be used for this purpose. The criterion for selection of the form the bond will take should be that the refuge manager has immediate access to the funds.

The refuge manager has the option to set the bond requirement at $0.00 (zero) if he or she anticipates no damage to the resource, clean-up, or restoration. A bond is not to be used as a penalty.

As a general guideline, bonds or deposits will be required in amounts equal to the estimated cost to the Government of clean-up or restoration that would be required if the permittee failed to perform. Should the permittee actually fail to perform all or any part of the necessary clean-up or restoration, the refuge manager will have the required work done, assess the charge, deduct it from the bond or cash deposit and return the balance, if any, to the permittee. Cash deposits must be secured immediately and accounted for at all times. News gathering organizations are exempt from formal permits and bonding requirements.

B. General liability insurance. General liability insurance will protect the U.S. Government from claims or litigation connected with injury or damage resulting from the actions of the permittee or his agents and employees. Another purpose of this requirement is to avoid undue tort liability to the Government and to assure that the filmmakers are not judgement-proof if a visitor is injured through the negligence of the permittee.

The refuge manager has the authority to waive the insurance requirement if there is little or no possibility of injury or damage to persons or property resulting from the activity.
Filmmakers that carry extensive general liability insurance may obtain a rider to have the U.S. Government named as additional insured. Others must obtain the necessary coverage.

C. Use of government equipment. Government equipment may be loaned or rented to a production company or diverted from its normal use for production purposes only to persons who render services or perform functions that facilitate or supplement activities and objectives of the Service.

D. Service supervision. Audio-visual productions authorized by permit must be supervised by a Service employee to assure full compliance with all of the terms and conditions of the permit.

In the case of a production involving substantial numbers of persons and equipment, supervision will be on-the-spot and continuous.

In the case of productions involving few people or minimal amounts of equipment, or taking place in areas where there is little, if any possibility of damage or violation of other permit requirements or inconvenience to the visitor, the refuge manager or his/her representative may spot check during the production to assure compliance.

If the refuge manager determines that the issuance of a permit would place overtime burdens on the supervisory capacity for the area, as a condition of the permit, he/she may require reimbursement for the cost of all overtime supervisory services provided. The monies received must be deposited as Miscellaneous Receipts in the General Treasury of the United States.

E. Off-duty personnel. The potential for conflict of interest is great in cases where Service employees are invited to work for productions companies directly. The Service position is that employees may work, off duty, for a production company if they do not perform or appear to perform official duties. Off-duty employment requests must be approved by the regional director.

Off-duty employment while in uniform is not permitted. Also, personnel engaged in supervision of the permittee are under no circumstances allowed to engage in off-duty employment with the filmmaker.

F. Termination or denial of permits. If warranted, in cases of deliberate infractions of the terms of the permit, or when resource damage occurs, A-V productions may be suspended or terminated. If the refuge manager determines that a permittee deliberately made false or misleading statements in securing the permit, he/she should inform the regional director, and recommend appropriate action. The following circumstances may justify permit denial:
(1) Supervision requirements. If the refuge manager determines that the requirement for supervision will place unreasonable burdens on the supervisory capacity of the Service staff, the permit may be denied. Denial may be made irrespective of the prospective permittee's willingness to pay overtime expenses.

(2) Disruption of visitor activities. If, in the refuge manager's opinion, the proposed A-V production will conflict unduly with the public's normal use of the refuge, the request should be negotiated to alleviate that impact, or if that is not possible, the request should be denied.

(3) Resource damage. If, in the refuge manager's opinion, the proposed A-V production may potentially damage the resource, the request should be negotiated to alleviate that impact, or if that is not possible, the request should be denied.

G. Fees. No fees are to be charged for A-V production permits.

H. Credit lines. The Service, through the Assistant Director - Public Affairs, retains the right to request appropriate credit either in narrative or audio forms, and/or through use of the Service symbol.

The suggested format for credit line is:

Name(s) of facility(ies)
FISH AND WILDLIFE SERVICE
U.S. DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR
1. Preliminary arrangements must be made with the Service prior to applying for the permit.

A pre-conference is required with the refuge manager and the audio-visual production director (or producer, or locations manager) at which time regulations and permit requirements will be discussed.

At least one month's notice will be required to process applications that could entail extensive disruption of Service activities. In other cases, five days' notice will be required.

2. Cancellations or changes for reasons other than the weather, in scheduled filming dates may necessitate three or more working days notice for rescheduling.

3. A visit to all proposed filming locations with film director and the refuge manager will precede the refuge manager's approval of locations. Film locations should be selected and approved before permit is issued.

4. Presence of film company must not unduly interfere with normal operation or visitor use. Due to the Service requirement that commercial audio-visual permits must be supervised by a Service employee, the number of hours or days filming may be limited by the availability of Service staff.

5. All Service regulations will apply. Areas of special concern are:

   A. Dogs, cats and other animals must be leashed or otherwise controlled at all times. (See 11, below.)

   B. All traffic regulations apply.

   C. All vehicles must stay on designated roadways.

   D. Camping is allowed only with refuge manager permission.

   E. Open fires are prohibited, unless special permission is given by the refuge manager.

   F. The use of inflammables or explosives is prohibited, except with written approval from the refuge manager. Production companies will arrange for and cover the cost of firefighting equipment and personnel.

   G. Littering is prohibited.

   H. Gathering of wood is permitted only with express refuge manager permission.
6. If the production company desires to stay overnight on the refuge, arrangements must be made well in advance with the refuge manager.

7. The production company is responsible for any sets or equipment left at the location site for any length of time (overnight, etc.).

8. If the production company anticipates the need to make numerous phone calls, the company must install a private phone line. Government phones may be used in emergency situations only.

9. Production companies will provide all their own materials, equipment and supplies.

10. A shooting schedule must be drawn up before permits are issued. Changes in the original shooting schedule will be permitted, subject to approval by the refuge manager, only when unforeseen circumstances occur, such as weather, mechanical breakdown or illness.

11. Under no circumstances will film companies bring any animals—foreign or domestic—to a Service facility without prior approval in writing by the refuge manager.

12. Credit may be given to the Department of the Interior and the Service, through the use of appropriate title or announcement.

13. Whenever an audio-visual productions company wishes to use the Service symbols, especially with titles, credits, and similar long deliberate exposures, concurrence from the Director of the Service is appropriate. Incidental filming of the symbol is not prohibited, except where filming is for advertising, promotional or direct commercial purposes.

14. Production companies should be prepared to provide the refuge manager with a list of the following information:

a. How many hours or days will be spent filming?

b. What specific locations will be used?

c. What kind and how many vehicles will be used? List all vehicles (including props) to be used in the production. Arrangements will be made for vehicles to be parked as close to the filming area as possible. Locations manager and driver captain will agree, in writing, with Service staff regarding what vehicles (prop truck, personnel carriers, dressing rooms, honey wagons, catering trucks, camera trucks, generator vans, grip trucks, etc.) are to be allowed.

d. What equipment will be used at each shooting location?
e. How many people will be involved in film operation (cast, crew)?

f. Synopsis of the production as it will pertain to the refuge.

g. Name, title, address and telephone number of the company representative who will be supervising production.
