Predictive Services Discussion: A ridge of high pressure over the western U.S. will strengthen today with hot and dry conditions along with breezy offshore winds for California. Moisture moving northward through the southern and central Plains region will bring a chance of thunderstorms. Unsettled weather is expected for Alaska today, with a chance of showers in many areas.

Remembering Yarnell Hill Fire One Year Ago Today

On June 30th 2013 the wildland fire community suffered the tragic loss of 19 firefighters on the Yarnell Hill Fire in Arizona. The purpose of this week is to honor our fallen firefighters by making a commitment that we will apply the lessons we have learned every day, on every fireline we walk, and with every decision we make.

This week we ask that you use the materials provided in these safety messages as a foundation for respectful dialogue and discussion. Apply these lessons to yourself, your crew, your team and your unit. Ask yourself this... "How can these lessons help change my behavior?"

Today is dedicated to the Granite Mountain Hotshots. Never forgotten.
