Predictive Services Discussion: A cool, northwesterly flow will continue over the northwestern states. Scattered rain and mountain snow showers will continue across the Cascades and the Northern Rockies. Light accumulations are possible in the higher terrain. Elsewhere across the West, temperatures will remain at or below normal. Looking east, west/northwest winds across the northern Great Plains will increase through the day as a cold front begins to drop south from central Canada. Wet conditions will continue across the Southeast and will expand northward as an approaching cold front from the west begins to incorporate the pool of tropical moisture located over the Gulf coast states.

In fast-moving, dynamic situations, top-level decision makers cannot always incorporate new information into a formal planning process and redirect people to action within a reasonable timeframe.

We provide leader's intent so people closest to the scene of action can adapt plans and exercise initiative to accomplish the objective when unanticipated opportunities arise or when the original plan no longer suffices.

Leader's intent is a crucial element of effective operations because it reduces internal friction and empowers subordinates – even when chaotic conditions prevent the chain of command from communicating effectively.

Leader's intent is a clear, concise statement about what people must do to succeed in their assignments. It delineates three essential components:

1. Task - what is the objective or goal of the assignment?
2. Purpose – why the assignment needs to be done.
3. End state – how the situation should look when the assignment is successfully completed.

Within the framework of the defined end state, leaders can develop plans that include incident objectives, priorities, strategies, trigger points, and contingency plans.

Discussion Points

- How were you most recently provided leader's intent?
- Describe a situation where leader's intent was utilized to adapt and achieve the desired end state.
- Describe a situation where leader's intent was not clear.
- Discuss how to gain leaders intent if it is not initially provided.
